Let me be more precise. I have taken a look at the D365 Finance, SCM, Commerce and Cross-apps ideas, and in total there are 10.190 ideas, where 306 have been implemented. That is just 3%. I cannot understand that only 3% of community ideas are relevant for a place in the roadmap. The community have spent substantial time in describing these

Shipment date on Purchase order
Fredrik Sætre on 1/2/2018 1:53:11 PM

Most vendors operate with a "delivery date" being the date where the items are shipped from their site or most often based on Delivery terms. So depending on the Delivery terms (Incoterms) the concept of delivery date changes. EXW often means a long lead time from shipment to delivery as opposed to DDP where shipment = delivery. There is a lot of misunderstanding with these concepts and that often leads to late deliveries...

This means we need a similar feature on shipment and delivery as on the purchase order. Most vendors assume the delivery date is their shipment dates. It is a tough sell to change this, so a feature supporting this is sorely required and something we always do for our customers.

Thanks for sharing Kurt. As I've mentioned before, we're renewing our efforts and improving our processes to better engage and leverage the data we can gather from the Ideas portal. I hope to be able to share more with you soon.

Thank you for sharing Kurt. Great feedback. We shipped a TON of work and features in core F&O - the engineering team has never been bigger! - and we can do more to feature that in the VLE.

Also, we will get in the habit of tracking the % of votes we are completing in the Ideas Site for Dynamics. We won't be able to chase the long tail of Ideas that have only a few votes, but we should be nailing the top 10 Ideas with more regularity!

Having said that, I want to pivot the team to drive and complete some more of the asks from the community (you might know something about that? 😊) rather than dreaming up entirely new scenarios. Hopefully that makes sense and excites you in a different way for our roadmap.

It would be nice to extend the Invoice Id to at least 30 length. It's not country specific, but world wide need. Unfortunately, Shorter number (what means wrong number of the invoice) will be reflected in bookings and in SAF-T file (XML files required by the Authority in Poland). Manual workar...

e-commerce Yarn Build failing with error Cannot read properties of undefined (reading 'has')

We have recently seen an issue where yarn build is failing with error Cannot read properties of undefined (reading 'has'). This is caused because of a external dependency "glob" that released a breaking change, To mitigate this issue, please add a resolution for glob version 7.2.0 in the package.json file of your deployable package

Update:

Glob has released a newer package 7.2.3 which fixes the issue introduced by 7.2.2. With this change, you no longer need to add the resolution for 7.2.0

Hi Mugunthan Mani,

As we are now trying to use the independent packing instead of legacy retail sdk, the yaml pipeline (https://github.com/microsoft/Dynamics365Commerce.InStore/blob/release/9.33/Pipeline/YAML\_File/build-pipeline.yml) file uses the "windows-latest" image and that uses Visual studio 2019, this doesn't work with the build pipelines for modern pos.

What are our options?

Now, If we change this to use "vs2017-win2016"

We get following warning:

Set up a B2B e-commerce site

Article • 05/03/2022 • 20 minutes to read • 6 contributors

Business-to-business (B2B) e-commerce sites provide some key capabilities that optimize the workflow for a B2B user. This topic describes how to set up a B2B e-commerce site in Microsoft Dynamics 365 Commerce. It goes through the modules and site settings that must be configured to enable B2B-specific scenarios.

Prerequisites

- To setup a B2B e-commerce site, you must enable and configure specific features in Commerce headquarters, as described in this topic.
- Core experiences, such as product discovery, product details pages, the cart, and checkout are powered by the same modules that are used for business-to-consumer (B2C) e-commerce sites. Site authors should be familiar with all the modules that Dynamics 365 Commerce supports. For more information, see Module library overview.
- This topic assumes that site authors understand the basics of Commerce site building, including fragments, and pages, so that they can enable the B2B features for e-commerce sites.
